

To type a message instead of record, click Type and type your message in the box that appears.

Repeat the Upload process to add more pictures to your VoiceThread.

To get the kids started, we distribute an instruction sheet for logging onto Voice Thread. It included the web address, school user name (email account) and password (same one for everyone).

Once on the site, they were directed to simply click on the book they are reading. All other directions are included in the sound clip that plays when the kids click on the book group Voice Thread.
